The History of

SAINT PIUS V SCHOOL

St. Pius V Parish in Lynn had its beginning on June 27, 1911, when land on Maple Street was purchased with space for a church, parochial school, and rectory. The funds for the land were raised by Father John Harrington and the parishioners of St. Joseph's Church to create a dedicated parish for the residents of Wards 1, 2, and part of Ward 3. Father John Gorham, a native of Lynn, was appointed as the parish's first pastor and served until 1917. A house at 198 Maple Street was purchased in 1912 to serve as a rectory, and daily mass was held there until the church was built. The lower church was built in 1913, and the upper church would not be constructed until 35 years later. Father Gorham was succeeded by Father William Deasy, who led the parish from 1917 to 1923. Father John Farrell then took on the role, serving from 1923 until his passing in 1941. Under Father Farrell's leadership, the parish more than doubled in size, and the Clubhouse at 182 Maple Street was built.

In 1941, Msgr. Bernard O' Kane became pastor, and the parish purchased the former Sanborn School from the City of Lynn. While the building was being renovated, the Sisters of St. Joseph taught the classes in the Maple Street Clubhouse. On November 26, 1945, the completed St. Pius V School was blessed by then Archbishop Richard Cushing. Initially, the school consisted of just grades 1 and 2, taught by Sister Irma and Sister Mary Thomas, CSJ. The sisters lived in a convent at 28 Bowler Street. Sister Irma (Grace Harriety Farrow) served as principal until 1949, followed by Sister Mercita (Marion Elizabeth Hogan), who led the school until 1955. Additional grades were added through 1951. The first 8th grade graduation of 18 boys and 15 girls was held in 1952.

In the spring of 1954, Msgr. O'Kane announced plans for a new school building. After Msgr. O'Kane was reassigned to another parish, his successor, Msgr. John Mullarkey, continued the plan to build the new school and convent. The new building would consist of 16 classrooms on the first and second floors and a convent of 22 rooms on the third floor. The old convent and two other parish-owned buildings on Bowler Street were demolished to begin the construction. The sisters temporarily took up residence in Revere, which had formerly been St. Anthony's Rectory. Sister M. St. Gabriel (Catherine Taffe) served as school principal during this transition from 1955-1961. The new school building was completed in September 1959, with the seals of Cardinal Cushing and Pope Saint Pius V prominent on the facade. The school was dedicated by Cardinal Cushing on October 31, 1959.

Sister Kenneth (Beatrice Dalton) became school principal in 1961. At the time, the school enrolled 600-700 students a year in 16 classes taught by 15 sisters and 1 lay teacher. The old Sanborn building was torn down, and a new Rectory - now the Pastoral Center - was built at 215 Maple Street in 1966. Sister Bertille (Margaret Anne Roache) became school principal in 1967 and expanded the school to include Kindergarten in 1971. Msgr. Mullarkey retired in August of 1971 and was succeeded by Father Joseph Collins, who converted the lower church into the parish hall. Sister Maureen Joseph (Kathleen Theresa) served as principal from 1977-1984.

The History of SAINT PIUS V SCHOOL

Father Collins retired in 1982, and the Team Ministry of Fathers Paul Kilroy, Thomas Buckley, and David D'Olimpio served the parish for the next decade. By the 1980s, fewer sisters were entering the vocation, and 80% of the school faculty consisted of lay people. The leadership of the school continued to rest upon the Sisters of St. Joseph, with Sister Marie Gerard (Lorraine Hinrichsen) serving as principal from 1984 through the end of the millennium.

Father Ed Malone served as pastor from 1993-1999, and was succeeded by the team ministry of Father Cornelius Mullaney and Father Joseph Rossi. In 1995, St. Pius V School was accredited by the New England Association of Schools & Colleges (NEASC), and that accreditation has been renewed every ten years since.

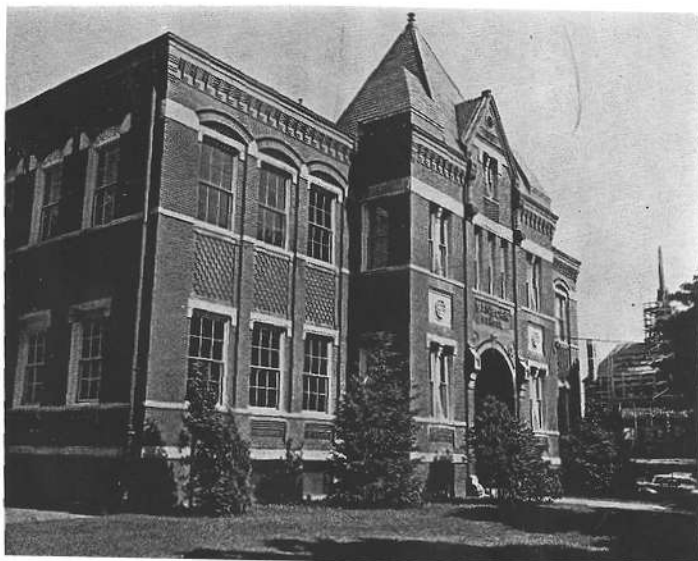

In 2000, Sr. Lorraine Hinrichsen retired from her role as principal and transitioned to the school's director of institutional advancement. At that time, St. Pius V School welcomed its first lay principal, Mr. Paul Maestranzi, who had been teaching at the school for 20 years. In 2008, the school bid farewell to its last remaining Sisters of St. Joseph and was now staffed entirely by lay men and women.

The sisters' former living room was renovated into the Callahan Science Lab, the sisters' former kitchen became the faculty room, and the sisters' former bedrooms on the 3rd floor were repurposed into resource classrooms. The school expanded to include a PreK classroom and an after-school program. Modern educational technologies such as computer workstations and interactive whiteboards were installed in all classrooms, bringing the school into the 21st century.

After Fr. Neil Mullaney's retirement and Fr. Joe Rossi's reassignment in 2013, Father Gregory Mercurio from Holy Family joined St. Pius V Parish as administrator. In June 2017, St. Pius V Parish merged with Holy Family Church into HOST Catholic Collaborative, with Father Robert Poitras as pastor. Since 2023, Father Mark Deranne has served as Pastor and Administrator of HOST Catholic Collaborative.

Mr. Maestranzi continued to lead the school until his retirement in 2022. Today, Principal Mary Beth Noe' and the committed faculty of qualified teachers work tirelessly to strengthen the school's curriculum and broaden offerings to meet the needs of its students. St. Pius V School continues to carry on the traditions of the Sisters of St. Joseph by providing a high-quality and well-rounded education rooted in Catholic values. Most of all, the school remains unique in its common mission with the Church by promoting a simple translation of the Law of Love, "Do your best, and be kind to one another."

SAINT PIUS V SCHOOL in the 1940s

From the end of 1945 through 1959, St. Pius V School was held in a school building at 215 Maple Street, formerly the Sanborn public school.

While waiting for the Sanborn building to be renovated in the fall of 1945, classes took place in the Clubhouse at 182 Maple Street, across the street from the church.

In 1946, Cardinal Cushing visits St. Pius V School's second grade class, the first graduating class of 1952.
